NEW FIRM FOCUSED ON EFFECTIVE TALENT RECRUITMENT AND LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT LAUNCHED BY NOTED BOSTON-AREA HUMAN RESOURCES PROFESSIONAL

BOSTON, MA, July 22, 2021 – Well-respected talent acquisition and human resources executive Sakina E. G. Evans has launched a new consultant practice, EvansOne, specializing in executive search, recruitment, and leadership development.

The firm will offer a variety of services in these areas, and through strategic partnerships will offer additional opportunities including executive coaching, assessment, and diversity, equity, and inclusion engagement.

Evans has a 25+ year career in Human Resources and Talent Management spanning a multitude of positions of varying and increasing responsibility. She has expertise in both the non-profit and corporate space, leading organizations, building teams, and personally identifying, hiring, developing, and mentoring some of the best talent available.

“Real leadership takes more than a great vision and strategy. You also need to connect authentically with the ideas and feelings of others,” said Evans. “The most talented people out there want to be challenged and rewarded, part of a winning team, and led by someone who trusts their full capability -- and earns their trust in return. In today’s competitive environment, none of those things alone are enough. At EvansOne our primary objective is to recruit leaders that have a balance of intellectual and emotional intelligence that will help companies to excel in such an environment.”
